

Code of Ethics

This Code of Ethics serves as a guideline for all Corporate Founder Members, Core Founder Members, Corporate Members, the Board of Directors, and all entities under Green Building Council Indonesia.

1. All members and affiliates must uphold GBC Indonesia's reputation at both national and international levels. The name of GBC Indonesia may only be used in alignment with its vision, mission, and applicable regulations.
2. Members and affiliates must actively contribute to environmental sustainability by conserving resources, reducing carbon emissions, and implementing best practices for sustainable development.
3. The name, logo, emblem, brand, presentation materials, and other attributes of GBC Indonesia must be used solely to promote public awareness of the organization and must comply with GBC Indonesia's regulations on their use.
4. Members may reference their participation in GBC Indonesia strictly for membership management purposes. The GBC Indonesia logo may not be used to imply environmental certification or endorsement of products, buildings, management, or services without written approval from the Board of Directors.
5. Members must comply with all relevant national and regional regulations on environmental structures, buildings, industries, and other applicable government policies.
6. Membership obligations, including initial contributions, annual dues, and other agreed-upon donations, must be fulfilled in a timely manner.
7. The GREENSHIP certification process is open to all, including non-members. Membership in GBC Indonesia does not grant any special privileges in certification assessments.
8. Members are expected to foster respectful and harmonious relationships within GBC Indonesia and with the broader community.
9. Any member found in violation of this Code of Ethics may receive a formal objection letter, warning, or termination of membership, effective within seven days of receiving a formal notice.
10. Membership rights and obligations apply as long as the membership remains active. They are automatically revoked upon inactivity.
11. In cases of severe violations, the Board of Directors will appoint a special committee to resolve the matter.
